

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE INITIATES
"CLEAN-UP-WEEK," APRIL 21-26

Newly Organized Board of Directors
Declares to Make Redwood City
"The City Beautiful"

Beginning April 21 Redwood City will have a "clean-up-week" for Redwood City. It was definitely decided at the meeting of the board of directors of the chamber of commerce held here last Friday.

After discussing the need of the "clean-up" week the chamber unanimously voted the movement and instructed Manager Smith to seek the co-operation of Scoutmaster Griffin of the Boy Scouts, Mrs. A. S. Kalenborn of the Woman's Club, Con Drathman, J. S. Irving and Mrs. C. S. H. Graves. The matter was brought before the chamber by Vice President Dosses.

Efforts will be made to clean the town up of all "eyesores" and improve looks generally. It was stated by members of the board.

Better transportation was another matter taken up and it was decided to communicate with the Peninsula Bureau of Chambers of Commerce and with the different chambers of commerce of San Mateo county regarding petitioning the Southern Pacific Company to restore week-end excursion rates and initiate a movement for faster trains.

On motion of Treasurer Behrens, seconded by Director Stafford, the salary of Manager Smith was set at $75 per month.

President Towne announced that the following committees had been appointed by the committee on committees:

Auditing—C. E. Choate, W. H. also, W. J. Dusel.
Finance—D. W. Williams, M. E. also, D. R. Stafford.

Forum—Clifton Woodhams, W. S. Baker, Jr., C. Drathman, A. G. Reault, Mrs. A. S. Kalenborn, H. E. allett.

President Towne is ex-officio on all committees.

On motion of Treasurer Behrens, seconded by Vice President Dosses, the report of the budget committee was adopted.

On motion of Treasurer Behrens, seconded by Director Hodge, it was decided that the report of the committee be adopted and that the amount due the American City Bureau be paid by cash and noted according to the terms of the contract.

The forum committee reported meeting Thursday evening, April 6, and that the first forum would be held Wednesday, April 19. Dr. B. M. Rastall had been invited to address the members and a program of entertainment was being worked up. The committee reported that the regular forum would be held the third Wednesday in each month in the evening and that the second and fourth Wednesday in each month would constitute the forum noon luncheon.

The following committee was appointed to investigate and report to the next regular meeting of the board of directors regarding ways and means of carrying out the program:

GRANT CENTENARY

Whereas, the hundredth anniversary of the birth of General Ulysses S. Grant will fall on the 27th day of April, 1922, and

Whereas, General Grant, by rendering heroic service to his country in the great crisis of the Civil War, earned the undying gratitude of the American people which should be expressed in appropriate exercises in the public schools of our state, and

Whereas, the Grand Army of the Republic has taken the initiative in making the observance of General Grant's birthday effective, and the request of these stalwart defenders of our country in behalf of the great triumph of the Civil War is entitled to the fullest recognition of the schools of the land.

Wood, superintendent of public instruction of the State of California, hereby call upon all school officials and public school teachers of this state on the 27th day of April, 1922, to hold exercises appropriate to the occasion to the end that the children of California may better appreciate the services of General Ulysses S. PIGEON POINT WINS
LIGHTHOUSE FLAG

To the Pigeon Point Lighthouse on the California coast goes the flag this year for the most efficient establishment of its kind in the 18th district. Each year the department of commerce decides which is the most efficient lighthouse in each of the 18 districts and allows it to fly a flag in honor of the event. The 1921 flag has been awarded to the Pigeon Point light, below Pescadero, of which John Nixon is the keeper.

DUMBARTON PROJECT AND EAST SIDE HIGHWAY ARE ASSURED

Bridge Committee Meet and Discuss Plans. Joint Assessment District to be Formed

The Dumbarton bridge across San Francisco bay and the east side highway connecting it with San Francisco are definitely assured and are rapidly taking on the forms of reality as the result of the joint meeting of the bridge committees of San Mateo and San Francisco counties held in this city last Wednesday.

"Let your engineer and our engineer prepare the general outlines of where the bridge and highway are to be, and you let us know when you are ready to act and we will at once take legal steps to create a special assessment district to raise the funds to co-operate with San Francisco county in erecting the bridge and building the highway," were the parting words of the San Mateo county bridge committee given to the San Francisco committee as the two left Cooley's landing Wednesday afternoon, where they had been surveying the proposed location of the bridge.

The cost of the proposed bridge, County Engineer George A. Kneese and City Engineer of San Francisco M. M. O'Shaughnessy estimated, will be about $1,500,000 and that of the highway completed, after all dangerous curves are taken out of the Bay Shore road from San Bruno into San Francisco, will also be near $1,500,000. O'Shaughnessy stated, making a total of near $3,000,000, the greater portion of which will be borne by San Francisco. It is said.

Upon their arrival at noon the members of the San Francisco committee were guests of the San Mateo county committee at the Flytrap Inn, where a sumptuous meal was served, after which the party toured in automobiles down the Middlefield and Bay roads to Cooley's landing, where County Engineer George A. Kneese pointed out the site of the proposed bridge, which it is said will be erected about 300 feet south of the Southern Pacific trestle, alongside of the proposed line of Hetch Hetchy water main. Supervisor John MacBain, in company with W. C. Lawrence and Supervisor Rosalie M. Brown, led the procession of automobiles to the bridge site.

At 3:20 the party returned to Redwood City and after a short stop continued north, surveying the proposed highway to San Bruno, where it is planned to connect it with the Bay Shore road into San Francisco by way of South San Francisco.

Among those present on the San Mateo county bridge committee were: District Attorney Franklin Swart, Supervisors John MacBain, Rosalie M. Brown and Thos. Hickey, George A. Kneese and his assistant,

J. S. Smith. From San Francisco were M. M. O'Shaughnessy, Nelson Echart and Max Bartlett, his assistants; H. A. Mason, clerk of the San Francisco board of supervisors; Supervisors Richard Welsh and Angelo Rossi; C. C. Cottrell, manager of the road roads bureau of the California Automobile Association, and Phil Thompson, head of the Civic Improvement Clubs of San Francisco.

The special Dumbarton bridge committee from the San Mateo board of supervisors and a similar committee from the San Francisco board of supervisors met in San Francisco last Friday morning and adopted a resolution calling upon the two counties to create a joint highway district for the purpose of building the east side highway and the Dumbarton bridge as one project. The San Mateo committee was composed of Supervisor John MacBain, District Attorney Franklin Swart and County Surveyor George A. Kneese. The Peninsula Bureau of Chambers of Commerce and Civic Associations was represented by Fred H. Drake of San Carlos, chairman of the bridge committee from the above organization. The San Francisco committee was composed of Supervisors Walsh, Robb, Hayden and Timothy Healy representing City Engineer M. M. O'Shaughnessy.

The San Francisco board of supervisors at their meeting Monday last voted unanimously to join with San Mateo county in the formation of the joint highway district.

The new road, to be known as the East Side highway, will begin in San Francisco at a point on Third street, running to San Bruno avenue, where it will strike the old Bay Shore highway and continue to South San Francisco. From there it will follow the east side of the Southern Pacific tracks to Redwood City and connect with the Middlefield and Bay roads and then with the automobile bridge at Dumbarton.

Welch was appointed chairman of a committee of three to confer with the officials of the state highway commission in an effort to have the state finance a survey for the bridge and the east side highway, which will amount to $5,000. Welch will appoint on his committee an official of San Francisco and one from San Mateo county later.

The new highway district will be known as California state highway district No. 2. Following the approval of the two boards of supervisors the district will be legally established and work to carry on the highway and bridge can begin at once or within 60 days. A chairman for the district will be appointed who

REDWOOD CITY HOTEL
MAN DIES

Charles Luscher, a resident of Redwood City for the past 20 years, passed away at his home, the Del Monte hotel, Monday evening after an illness of several months. Death was caused by Bright's disease. For a number of years the deceased was proprietor of the Main Street bakery and prospered in that business. In 1902 he purchased the property occupied by the old Chestney store, adjoining the fire house and erected the Del Monte hotel there. He conducted this business and for a time an automobile service, but for several years past has devoted all of his time to the hotel.

For a time Mr. Luscher was a member of the city council and took a great interest in town affairs. He was a member of Court Madrone, No. 1, Foresters of America and was a trustee of the organization for many years.

He was a native of Switzerland and was 59 years of age. He is survived by his wife and a small son, Charles, Jr.

The funeral was conducted Wednesday by Court Madrone at Foresters' Hall, the interment being in Cypress Lawn cemetery.

Card of Thanks

Mrs. Charles Luscher desires in behalf of herself and her small son, Charles, to thank her many friends for the great kindness shown her in her late bereavement. She wishes particularly to publicly thank Chief of Police C. L. Collins, John E. Laying, the members of Court Madrone, No. 158, Foresters of America, and all who sent so many beautiful floral offerings.

MURPHY AT SAN CARLOS
TOMORROW

Jimmy Murphy, winner of the French Grand Prix and holder of the world's 250-mile seedway record made on the Greater San Francisco speedway last December, is to be seen in the Golden Gate Motor Derby at San Carlos Easter Sunday.

News of Murphy's entry in the Easter race will be received with great interest by the followers of the racing sport in northern California. It is predicted by Murphy's boosters that he will break his own world's record made on the San Carlos course the day he christened it. Murphy will have competition in the Sunday race, but the spectacular little Irishman has his car faster than ever and he is confident that he will be able to duplicate his performance of last December.

Additional interest is attached to the entry of Jimmy Murphy, as he is a San Francisco boy. He was born in that city. His mother died when he was a very young child and his father lost his life in the great fire of 1906. He is a nephew of Fire Chief Thomas Murphy of San Francisco.

FIRE CLAIMS 100 CHICKS
AT HOME OF MRS. G. GOUGH

Death by fire was the fate of 100 newly hatched chickens on Tuesday morning when an oil heater brooder burst into flames at the home of Mrs. G. Gough. An alarm was turned in and the fire department reached the scene of the tragedy in time to save a small portion of the chicken house, but too late to rescue the little chicks in the doomed brooder. A fiery death seems to be the rule for little chickens in Redwood City, Tuesday's tragedy marking the third or fourth that has occurred in this city during the past twelve months.

The run of two and a half miles from the fire station to the Gough residence at Emerald Lake was made in the record time of five minutes.

ELECTION RESULTS FROM THE NEARBY TOWNS

South San Francisco was probably the only city in San Mateo county where a quiet election was held on Monday, Fred A. Cunningham and Al Eschebach having been returned without opposition. In several places a spirited contest resulted in an unusually large vote being cast.

In Daly City, out of a registration of 1376 voters, 1224 ballots were cast, the result being the re-election to the board of city trustees of H. H. Smith and Trustee O'Rourke and the election of T. P. Morgan.

In San Bruno Dr. F. H. Smith was returned to the board and George Edwards and Emil Halter were elected as trustees.

In Burlingame Mayor W. H. Pearson and Trustee E. E. Johnson were re-elected. There in the last few days a movement was started to elect Frank H. Thrall by writing his name on the ballot and many votes were cast this way, but not a sufficient number to elect.

In San Mateo Mayor T. J. Brady and Trustee J. F. Turner were returned to office. Seemingly due to carelessness of election officers in tabulating totals, the result on four tabulations calling for bond issues is still in doubt and may not be known until the city trustees canvass the election returns in the sealed envelopes next Monday evening.

HENRY BEEGER HIGH MAN IN CITY ELECTION HELD MONDAY

Ryan Leaves Kreiss at Post. Water
Company's Proposition Defeated
By Only 23 Majority

The city election brought out a fine vote on Monday and much interest was manifested by the friends of the three contending candidates. Automobiles bearing the banners of the contestants were seen at all times carrying the electors to the various polling places. As we predicted last week Henry Beeger was high man. Next in order came Mayor Mark E. Ryan, who nosed out George A. Kreiss by a lead of 132 votes. The vote was:

Henry A. Beeger..... 885
Mark A. Ryan..... 637
George A. Kreiss..... 505

Henry A. Beeger, the newly elected trustee, will take his seat on the city council next Monday evening. He is to well known in Redwood City to need any introduction, but for the benefit of any newcomers in the city we would say that he is the son of one of the pioneer families of Redwood City and both his father and elder brother, Carl, have served as town trustees before him. He was educated in the local schools and at Stanford and is now in the leather business in San Francisco and handles the products of the Beeger Tanning Company there. He can be counted on to do the right thing on the board of town trustees.

Mayor Mark E. Ryan will continue as a member of the board. Mr. Ryan has been active in the affairs of the city and has also been chief of the local fire department for several years.

Mr. Kreiss, the retiring trustee, polled a big vote which showed that he had many friends who were active in his behalf. The election engendered no hard feelings and leaves no wounds to be healed.

The result of the vote to acquire the water works for the city was a disappointment to most of the thinking people of the community. The proposition lost by 23 votes, there being 696 votes for and 372 against the proposition. There were many blank votes cast in the election and it is more than probable that the voters thought they were voting for the purchase when they did not place a cross against it.

We feel that the trustees would be justified in calling another election in the near future to again consider this important matter.

FIGHT FOR JUNIOR COLLEGE WON
BY THE FRIENDS OF EDUCATION

Judge Buck Sustains School Election
Against Objections of Henry
T. Scott

Within thirty minutes after leaving the bench Thursday afternoon Judge George H. Buck handed down a decision in which he sustained the demurrer set up by the attorneys for the respondents in the case of H. T. Scott vs. the trustees of the San Mateo Union High School and the county superintendent of schools.

The case was instituted after the result of the junior college election held in the San Mateo Union High School district on March 31 became known. Attorney A. H. Redington, appearing for Henry T. Scott of Hillsborough, sought to restrain the county superintendent of schools, Roy W. Cloud, from proceeding further in the formation of the district, alleging in his application for a writ of certiorari that the petition for the formation of the district was not sufficient in that the signers thereto had not affixed the date of their signing and further that there had been certain irregularities in the manner of conducting the election.

Franklin Swart, district attorney, appeared for the respondents and was assisted by the firm of Ross & Ross of this city and by the firm of Kirkbride & Gordon of San Mateo.

George C. Ross made the opening argument for the sustaining of the demurrer and in a most able manner covered all of the points brought forth. He was followed by Major Charles N. Kirkbride, who offered additional facts as to the merits of the demurrer.

Mr. Redington then attacked the sufficiency of the demurrer, as did also J. J. Bullock, who was associated with Mr. Redington. At the conclusion of the argument Judge Buck took the matter under advisement and sustained the demurrer, thus ending the suit.

On Thursday afternoon Superintendent Cloud filed his certificate formally creating the San Mateo Junior College district. This district was voted on by the people of the San Mateo Union High School district on March 31 and the election was carried by a large majority.

The college when started will give a number of courses which will correspond to those carried on during the first two years at Stanford or the University of California. There will be no tuition charged and if the students gets recommended grades in the San Mateo institution he will be fully credited at any of the universities in California. In other words, a student who does good work at San Mateo during the course there can graduate from Stanford in two years. Any high school graduate of San Mateo county may attend the San Mateo junior college.

AN OPEN LETTER FROM D. E. O'KEEFE TO HIS MANY FRIENDS

Redwood City, April 11, 1922.

To my friends: For twenty-one years I have labored faithfully to give a good paper to you who have so liberally supported me as friends and patrons and subscribers. The work of editing and publishing a paper, week after week, month after month, and year after year has been wearisome. Yet because I loved the work, and because I foresaw great things for Redwood City, I have been content to carry on. Two weeks ago I took the oath of office as an assistant United States appraiser for the port of San Francisco. Of necessity I must for a time lay down my pen and cease my editorial duties. I shall retain my ownership and direction of the Times-Gazette, but I shall put its management into other hands.

For some time past I have been looking for someone to take my place. I have asked Mr. David Moore of San Mateo to take on the work. For the past two years Mr. Moore has represented the San Francisco Chronicle in San Mateo county. He will continue this work in connection with his editorship of the Times-Gazette. Mr. Moore is a young man whom we can recommend to our friends as worthy of every consideration. At the outbreak of the great war he left his duties as a senior in the University of Texas and enlisted in the aviation branch of the army. He soon won his commission and served as a lieutenant in the air forces. On leaving the service at the end of the war Mr. Moore came to California and has been here since that time.

We ask you to give him the same loyal co-operation you gave to me in the days gone by. And thanking you for all the favors in the past and expecting your continued support, I am,

Yours very truly,
D. E. O'KEEFE.

SHORTRIDGE AND IMMIGRATION

Hon. Samuel M. Shortridge has put forward a piece of progressive legislation that should make him famous throughout the United States. Last week he introduced in the senate a bill which would give a yearly check on all alien residents of the United States. He would have every alien who desires to come to this country register his intention before the American consul at the point from which he is to embark. He is again registered on his arrival here. Every year thereafter until he is naturalized the alien must register and pay an annual registration fee of $24. This fee is to be used for educational purposes and every candidate for citizenship must have the ability to speak and read English correctly. He must also have a thorough knowledge of our institutions and laws. The annual registration fee will pay all of the costs incident to his education. Women will not be allowed to ally themselves with the naturalization of their husbands. Senator Shortridge, we salute you. You have commenced a great work.

SICKLY PROPAGANDA

Not long ago Sir Philip Gibbs made a lecture tour of the United States and told numerous audiences of the woe of the situation in Europe. The distressing financial condition of Great Britain was prominently mentioned and the extreme improbability of the British ever collecting the billions of dollars due them from other European nations. But despite the plight of the British exchequer, Great Britain would never, no never, refuse to meet her obligations to the United States. The emphasis Sir Philip put upon that point seemed quite unnecessary in view of the fact that nobody had accused Great Britain of attempted repudiation.

Other speakers have followed Sir Philip and have lectured in much the same vein. Now comes Colonel Repton, the distinguished British writer on international topics. The title of his lecture is "Personalities of Europe." But, strangely enough, not a single foreign statesman is mentioned in his whole address. Instead his talk deals with what Europe needs in her predicament, most of it from America, including substantial financial assistance. His audience are told that "Englishmen have to pay taxes four times the American rate, and they are assured that American bankers favor a redistribution of the gold supply. But as for the British debt to America—Great Britain has always paid her debts and she always will, and far be it from the colonel to suggest otherwise. Nevertheless, the British treasury is in such a mighty bad way and much economic good would come through a reallocation of gold. One of Repton's audiences in St. Louis remarked, "His speech was saturated with the spirit of that familiar propaganda." When an individual finds it necessary to go around proclaiming his honesty, it is time for others to be on the alert. We are willing to take the word of Lloyd George that Great Britain will pay. Why can't the British propagandists in this country let it go at that?

One Solid Year of Achievement

Republican Administration's Program of Construction Being Fulfilled

Congress Is Industrious

Record of Accomplishments Not Excelled in Annals of Legislation

(By Rep. Simon D. Fess (Ohio), Chairman Republican Congressional Committee.)

The World War bequeathed to the United States, in common with every other nation gigantic debts, tremendous expenditures, burdensome taxes, disjunct economic conditions and general unrest. No previous administration since the establishment of our Government came into power with greater domestic problems demanding solution at its hands than confronted the Republican administration on March 4, 1921.

Immediately upon the inauguration of the President and his call of the special session of the Congress a program of rehabilitation was outlined and work immediately commenced to consummate it. Undesirable immigration was flooding the country. This increased unemployment, rendered more difficult a solution of our industrial problems, while the character of many of the immigrants was a menace to our social and political institutions. To protect American labor and American institutions against this invasion a law was enacted limiting further immigration to but three per cent of the national already in America.

The first necessary step toward economic readjustment was necessarily reduction of expenses and balancing of the budget. One of the earliest measures enacted by the Republican Congress was the budget law. The previous Republican Congress had enacted a budget law, but it was vetoed by President Wilson. The law went into effect July 1, 1921, in time to apply to the fiscal year beginning on the same date. Whatever economies have been effected by reason of the Budget Bureau since that time are to be credited to the early action of the Republican Congress in putting the law on the books which created the Budget Bureau and made its operation possible.

The agricultural industry of the country was suffering in a degree which has never been equalled in its history. This important industry, which directly affects one-third of our population and indirectly affects every industrial, commercial and financial activity, was facing bankruptcy. In order to assist the farmer in this period of economic distress the Republican Congress enacted an elaborate program of agricultural rehabilitation. This program of constructive legislation in behalf of the American farmer is without parallel in the annals of American legislation. The substantial effects of this legislative program are now apparent on every hand.

Notwithstanding the Republican Congress elected in 1920 and assembled in special session in 1921 had appropriated hundreds of millions for ex-service men, the administration of these funds by the various executive agencies controlled by the Democrats had been such that the ex-service men had received a minimum of benefit from the funds. A large part of this was due to lack of co-ordination and co-operation of the various bureaus. One of the greatest pieces of constructive legislation of the Republican Congress was the consolidation of the various agencies dealing with the ex-service men under the one head of the Veterans Bureau. This assurance expedition as well as fair and adequate treatment of our disabled ex-service men.

In addition to this consolidation and reorganization additional millions were appropriated for the use of the Bureau. American ex-service men of the World War have been better treated at the hands of the Republican Congress than the ex-service men of any previous war in American history and better treated than the ex-service men of any other nation engaged in the World War. And the end is not yet. As an aid to the agricultural industry and as an antidote to the unemployment situation, the Congress passed a $75,000,000 appropriation bill for the construction and maintenance of improved highways, which sum will be doubled when the provisions of the bill are complied with by States putting up an equal sum of money.

Among the numerous constructive and relief measures the Maternity Bill was enacted in response to the demand

In order to assist the farmer in this period of economic distress the Republican Congress enacted an elaborate program of agricultural rehabilitation. This program of constructive legislation in behalf of the American farmer is without parallel in the annals of American legislation. The substantial effects of this legislative program are now apparent on every hand.

Notwithstanding the Republican Congress elected in 1920 and assembled in special session in 1921 had appropriated hundreds of millions for ex-service men, the administration of these funds by the various executive agencies controlled by the Democrats had been such that the ex-service men had received a minimum of benefit from the funds. A large part of this was due to lack of co-ordination and co-operation of the various bureaus. One of the greatest pieces of constructive legislation of the Republican Congress was the consolidation of the various agencies dealing with the ex-service men under the one head of the Veterans Bureau. This assurance expedition as well as fair and adequate treatment of our disabled ex-service men.

In addition to this consolidation and reorganization additional millions were appropriated for the use of the Bureau. American ex-service men of the World War have been better treated at the hands of the Republican Congress than the ex-service men of any previous war in American history and better treated than the ex-service men of any other nation engaged in the World War. And the end is not yet. As an aid to the agricultural industry and as an antidote to the unemployment situation, the Congress passed a $75,000,000 appropriation bill for the construction and maintenance of improved highways, which sum will be doubled when the provisions of the bill are complied with by States putting up an equal sum of money.

Among the numerous constructive and relief measures the Maternity Bill was enacted in response to the demand

One Solid Year of Achievement

Republican Administration's Program of Construction Being Fulfilled

Congress Is Industrious

Record of Accomplishments Not Excelled in Annals of Legislation

(By Rep. Simon D. Fess (Ohio), Chairman Republican Congressional Committee.)

The World War bequeathed to the United States, in common with every other nation gigantic debts, tremendous expenditures, burdensome taxes, disjunct economic conditions and general unrest. No previous administration since the establishment of our Government came into power with greater domestic problems demanding solution at its hands than confronted the Republican administration on March 4, 1921.

Immediately upon the inauguration of the President and his call of the special session of the Congress a program of rehabilitation was outlined and work immediately commenced to consummate it. Undesirable immigration was flooding the country. This increased unemployment, rendered more difficult a solution of our industrial problems, while the character of many of the immigrants was a menace to our social and political institutions. To protect American labor and American institutions against this invasion a law was enacted limiting further immigration to but three per cent of the national already in America.

The first necessary step toward economic readjustment was necessarily reduction of expenses and balancing of the budget. One of the earliest measures enacted by the Republican Congress was the budget law. The previous Republican Congress had enacted a budget law, but it was vetoed by President Wilson. The law went into effect July 1, 1921, in time to apply to the fiscal year beginning on the same date. Whatever economies have been effected by reason of the Budget Bureau since that time are to be credited to the early action of the Republican Congress in putting the law on the books which created the Budget Bureau and made its operation possible.

The agricultural industry of the country was suffering in a degree which has never been equalled in its history. This important industry, which directly affects one-third of our population and indirectly affects every industrial, commercial and financial activity, was facing bankruptcy. In order to assist the farmer in this period of economic distress the Republican Congress enacted an elaborate program of agricultural rehabilitation. This program of constructive legislation in behalf of the American farmer is without parallel in the annals of American legislation. The substantial effects of this legislative program are now apparent on every hand.

Fox Denounces Game Hog Clubs

Story No. 51

It required some time for the duck hunting boys of yesterday to recognize the stern reality that the web-foots in this vicinity were becoming less in numbers as each succeeding winter passed by, but as it was forcibly impressed upon them, the necessity became apparent that we must pursue different methods of hunting in order to acquire a string of the wild birds of the marshland which in the years past had visited this section of the country in countless thousands. The law which was subsequently passed that prohibited night hunting was hardly necessary, for long before that statute went into effect the farmers had quit planting grain and the wild birds which had made the magnificent moonlight nights musical with their miscellaneous calls had long since found feeding grounds more prolific with the cereals necessary to sustain their existence.

Every hunter of wild ducks who has made a study of the habits of game birds knows full well that it makes a vast difference in the flavor of a delicious webfoot when placed upon the table if it has been feeding on substances foreign to its nature. Epicures who are accustomed to celeried fowl would turn up their noses in disgust if served with one of those noble birds that had spent the last months of its existence diving for clam necks; the little green winged teal and handsome pintail or sprig, as they are more generally known, two varieties of the wild duck family that are more particular about the quality of food which they consume than any of the others, would be looked upon with disfavors were they to partake of the same substances relished by the crap or bluebill. There is, however, one thing about a wild duck; he must have food and if he cannot satiate his appetite on one thing he will on another, so while the great majority of the birds here left when grain planting ceased, there were still for some years thousands remaining and existing on seeds from the marsh grass and tules. The quality of these birds, however, became inferior and it was not long before you could hardly give ducks away, let alone sell them.

Most of the boys adopted the plan of tramping the marshes and sneaking up on an unsuspecting flock in the sloughs, by which method they were enabled to bring in from a dozen to twenty in an all day's hunt, but as the years went by and the birds became scarcer, from six to a dozen was considered a fine bag. The reports that came in concerning the success of the seagull boat hunters, particularly Louis Werder and Charlie Piken, appealed more directly to me, and I resolved to follow their footsteps, if it was possible for me to master the art of seagull hunting, so when little Ben Leathers had taught me the stroke or motion of the arm which drove the seagull boat forward I set out to be successful with a determination that was as deep set as the original "duckitis" which was born with me.

Seagull boat hunting has been denounced by many as unsportsmanlike. They have called it a slaughter and an undue advantage taken of a flock of birds simply for the purpose of acquiring them. I desire right here to say a few words in defense of the men and boys who have followed that style of hunting, not particularly because I have done so myself, but because it is my honest belief that those who have made and who are using the seagull boat today are justified in so doing in order to kill a bunch of the webfoots and also to protect their own interests against the game hogs of the country, whose lust and greed within a few years more, if not prevented by a sane legislature dictated by a conscience of what is right and wrong, and not by the pussyfooting game commission of this state, preclude the present generation and their children from killing a single duck, irrespective of the fact that we are supposed to be living under the administration of a great and glorious republic.

Seagull boat hunting requires not only brain work, but brawn, muscle, nerve, a tireless energy and unlimited endurance, qualifications which those who criticize that particular style of hunting do not possess. It is also necessary to be endowed with a vast amount of patience and from morn to night, if one hunt that long, it is hard, grinding, tiresome work. Is it sportsmanlike? I will answer that question by asking you another. Is it sportsmanlike to bait a pond with wheat or barley, at in a box or barrel sunk in the ground, permit the wild birds to come in unlimited numbers to satisfy nature's demands and then potshot and murder them while they are diving for the food you do not wish them to get? Is it sportsmanlike?

Over at Alvarado a coterie of young bloods have rented a fresh water pond supplied with water from an artesian well. The pond is heavily baited with grain lengthwise with the pond and within easy range of it a trench has been dug that furnishes complete concealment for the half dozen members of the club. Do not think you are over in France. This is not trench warfare. It is so called sport. Just before it starts to break day the six, all armed with automatic and pump guns, take respective places in the trench. Dawn commences to break and the birds are moving. A few alights in the enticing pond and commence feeding; more come and then more until the pond is fairly alive with the feathered beauties. Have these so called sports attempted to shoot as the birds came flying in and give them a 50-50 chance? Not they; their commanding officer has not given the word. These six noble hunters of wild ducks are not ready to go over the top. To go too soon might mean the loss of a few birds. More ducks are coming. The time arrives when there is no more room on the water for them to alight. The moment has arrived. A signal is given by one of the six and simultaneously a half dozen pumps and automatics poke their muzzles over the protecting levee. What happens? You have undoubtedly heard the opening of a Chinese new year. That is about what it sounds like. From 20 to 40 shots ring out within the brief space of a few seconds. The first are fired while the ducks are sitting on the water, the balance while the huge mass of webfoots, flapping their wings together in their anxiety to leave for parts unknown, are climbing into the air, making a target that is all over as quickly as it is started. The pond is covered with the dead and dying. Off on the edges the cripples are flapping in an endeavor to get away. A few old drake sprig, stronger than the rest, have been able to fly a few hundred yards out and then drop. Oh, what a fine pile—teal, widgones, spoonbill and a couple of mallard—between 60 and 70—all killed within a few brief moments!

What grand sport those hunters have had; what a slaughter in the name of sport!

What do you think of it? You have asked me if seagull boat hunting is unsportsmanlike and I have answered by asking something else. The tale just unfolded is no fair dream. It is fact, cold blooded at that.

Do I think seagull boat hunting is legitimate and sportsmanlike? I certainly do.

ASSOCIATED AERIES EAGLES MEET AT DAILY CITY

In the name of liberty, truth, justice and equality the Associated Aeries of Eagles of San Mateo county met last Sunday afternoon at Daily City. Owing to the fact that Sunday was the day of our municipal elections several of the delegates abstained themselves, but withal the meeting was enthusiastic and instructive. Matters of new legislation to be brought before the state aerie at Santa Cruz were discussed with a view to presenting them to that body in a concerted manner.

The delegates from each aerie reported steady growth of the membership. The afternoon terminated with the usual banquet in which Colma Vista Grand Aerie was the host and acquitted itself most commendably.

MOTORCYCLE WRECK AT FIVE POINTS INJURES TWO

Victor Boloni, 262 California, and Carlos Carlo, 269 California street, South San Francisco, were treated at the Quinivere Hospital in Redwood City last Sunday afternoon for injuries received when their motorcycle overtook a state highway bus below Five Points. Both were badly bruised and Boloni suffered a lacerated leg and body cuts, while Carlos was cut on the head and the shoulder. The two men attempted to make a sharp turn in passing traffic on the highway and their motorcycle turned completely over, throwing them on the pavement. After being treated they returned to their homes.

The California Pacific Title Insurance Company has engaged Mr. Van Alstyne, a young ex-serviceman from Los Angeles, to assist in the working force at the local office.

The Heiner and Nobs families had quite a scare last Friday evening when a big collie dog went on a rampage in their neighborhood. Seeing some children at play in the front yard of Lawrence Heiner's place he dashed at them and bit young Larry Heiner on the leg. He then ran down the sidewalk and attacked Mrs. F. Nobs, but was frightened away before doing her any harm. Ed McAllister, the night watchman, then appeared on the scene and killed the animal.

Mrs. C. L. McCracken was here from San Mateo Monday visiting her son, Charles.

NEW ZEALAND PIANIST TO PLAY AT CHAUTAUQUA

Guy Marriner Will Be Heard With Noted Artist Trio.

Guy Marriner, pianist with the Steelman-Marriner-Taylor Trio, which is to be one of the musical delights of Chautauqua, is a young New Zealand artist who made his initial bow before the American audiences last year in a series of brilliant concert appearances before western audiences. So great was his success that he has been engaged for a long Chautauqua tour this season, and local people will have an opportunity of enjoying the rare musical gifts of this young performer. MENLO PARK NEWS

The re-election of James G. Mason as trustee of the local grammar school without opposition is very gratifying to his many friends. He has worked diligently to advance the school and has given every detail of the management of the district close attention. The district owes Mr. Mason a debt of gratitude.

Mrs. H. W. Smith and her pretty daughter, Rosalie, left during the week for Portland to attend the funeral of Mrs. Smith's brother, who died there recently. They will be absent from Menlo Park for some time.

Sparks from the chimney fell on the roof of the F. P. Roach home Tuesday night, setting the shingles on fire. The timely arrival of the fire department saved the building from destruction. Several yards of the roof were burned.

Richard Girvin, Jr., has opened his handsome home at Alhambra for the summer months. Mr. and Mrs. Girvin resided in the city during the winter. Mrs. Girvin is a society leader and expects to entertain considerably during the season.

Mrs. James P. Maloney, wife of James Maloney, for the past two months a resident of San Francisco, had her ankle fractured last Sunday morning in attempting to escape from a fire in her apartment. She is now at the Franklin Hospital. She was trapped by flames and fell on a fire escape. She was rescued from her perilous position by her husband. Mr. Maloney is stopping with his sister, Mrs. Clotier.

Percy Copp, for many years gardener for Carl Rales, left yesterday for Santa Barbara, where he will be superintendent of the Peabody estate. Mr. Copp has for several years been president of the Menlo Park Horticultural Society.

C. R. Walter was re-elected fire commissioner on Monday last by a unanimous vote. There were 70 votes cast and Mr. Walter received them all. That is a pretty compliment to the commissioner.

BENEDETTI, WANTED ON COAST SIDE, SURRENDERS

Dulio Benedetti, who is charged with killing Roberto Bianchi on the highway near Princeton on the night of March 12, surrendered to coast side officers and has been brought to the jail in this city. Benedetti left Petroni's in Princeton in company with Bianchi and A. Michele, after having had dinner, on Sunday, March 12. Shortly after Bianchi was found on the highway with a gunshot wound from which he afterward died. Michele was found in an adjoining field and after being held for a few days was released. Benedetti disappeared. He told the officers that following the shooting, which he claims was in self defense, he was afraid some of the Italians would kill him. He made his way through the hills to the Spring Valley lakes, where he spent Monday. That night he walked into Burlingame, where he took a car to San Francisco and then proceeded to Sacramento. Later he made up his mind to surrender and returned to Halfmoon Bay.

When you get something for nothing, that's what it is worth.

Supervisor Shannon of San Francisco and his wife were week end guests of J. H. O'Keefe. The popular supervisor is enthusiastic about the construction of the Dumbarton bridge and will be its best advocate on the San Francisco board. Mr. Shannon also favors more roads down the peninsula from the walled city. He will lend his influence to build more highways leading out of the city.

A. Gale is home from the mines to spend a few days with his family. He is lowering on the mother lode and is meeting with success.

Stanford Park residents have organized an improvement club, which will arrange street improvements, planting trees, building restrictions and other movements for the beautification of the district. The new organization will be known as the Stanford Park Improvement Club. About 30 members are already enrolled.

A radio telephone system is to be installed in the Menlo Park Theatre next week. It is to be the first system to be placed in any show house on the peninsula. It will have a radius of 3,000 miles. This novelty will no doubt be appreciated by the theatergoers of Menlo Park and they will fill the cozy theater.

The card party and dance to be given by the ladies of the Church of the Nativity is scheduled to take place on Friday evening, April 21. Splendid prizes have been selected for the occasion. Refreshments will be served in the hall.

An automobile badly wrecked was found on Oak Grove avenue yesterday morning. The registration card had been removed from the machine. It was no doubt driven by a person under the influence of liquor. The car struck a tree in front of the Episcopal church and was shunted 300 feet down the street. It was evidently a stolen car and the occupants must have been out on a booze party, as the machine gave every evidence of this. Deputy Traffic Officer George Murray is making an investigation of the affair.

SAN FRANCISCO FAVORS DUMBARTON BRIDGE

The San Francisco board of supervisors on Thursday voted on record as favoring the Dumbarton automobile bridge. The supervisors appointed a committee to devise ways and means of helping San Mateo county to construct a bridge over the southern arm of the bay paralleling the Southern Pacific right of way, which would allow machines from the San Joaquin valley to go direct to San Francisco without taking the ferry from Oakland. The cost of the Dumbarton bridge is estimated at $1,500,000.

Grounds surveyed
Surveys for the firm of Werner & Coffey, architects for the new high school, were at work on the high school grounds this week marking out the locations of the various departments of the building. The plans of the building are practically completed and will soon be ready for adoption by the high school board of trustees.

Miss Cora Clute went up to San Francisco Friday and remained until Sunday visiting her mother.

Yesterday was "Bright Clothes Day" at Sequoia Union High School. The girl students had on their gladdest and brightest togs and the hues and variations were in many cases dazzling to the eye.
